RAG Against the Machine

A local system for answering questions about source code.
It searches a repository's code and documentation, then gives relevant excerpts to a small language model.

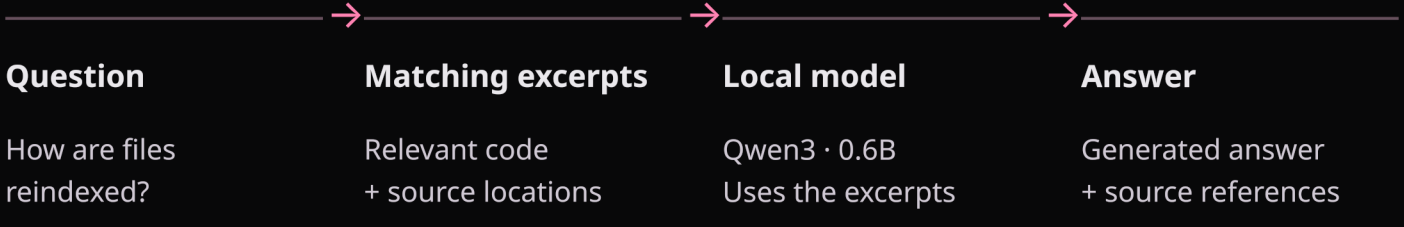

Do not use this for real projects.

I built this to learn how retrieval and local generation work.
For practical coding work, I would use an agent.

Indexing

Answering

Veya Fürst

github.com/0xveya/42-rag-against-the-machine